LETTER OF THE MONTH

GUIL ROBE DULAY

Dear K-Zone,
You're still my number one magazine! Belated happy
14th birthday, KZ! You guys rock!

JULIAN LAYSON

Hey, KZ!
Your August ish cheered me up and made me feel better! I bring your mag geek everywhere so that I have something to geek out over with the squad. Oh, and belated happy birthday to the best kids magazine in the universe!

TATIANA VELEZ

You are awesome!

Dear K-Zone,
Every issue is such a thrill to read. I also

Hey, KZ!
I get major lulz from reading your mag! I think Comic Zone and Quick Draw are amazeballs! I hope that you make more super-sized poster books in the future.

CHASTIN OBESO

Hi, K-Zone!
Your August ish blew my mind! It was so awesome that my mom ended up reading it, too! I always make sure to set aside cash every month so I can buy a new ish. I hope that Team KZ will continue making magazines forever!

CEASAR ROLLAN

KURT VALLO

Yaaaass!
Hi, KZ!
I first spotted your mag as I was leaving a toy store. I was so happy when my parents agreed to buy it for me. Now, every month, I ask them if I could get the latest KZ ish 'coz I'm hooked! Your mag is A+!

LORENZO INIGO
BALINGIT

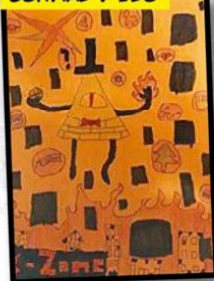

Hi, K-Zone!
I've been a KZ collector since I was 13 years old. My sister introduced your mag to me and told me that I would prolly enjoy flipping through the pages—and she was right! My fave sections are Last Laugh, Comic Zone, and You Got Game. I learned tons of awesomesauce info from reading KZ. Keep up the good work, fam!

ALOHA!

Feel the island vibez when you go on an epic oceanic adventure with Moana and demigod Maui! Check it: Dwayne "The Rock" Johnson voices the ultra-funny Polynesian god. This animated flick is bound to be blockbuster hit! Plus, the heroine in this one is looking pretty kick-butt! Mahalo, Disney!

IT'S GONNA BE A MAGICAL MONTH

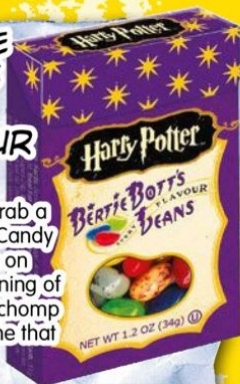

Ready your wands, spells, and pixie dust! With Dr. Strange, Trolls, and the much-anticipated Fantastic Beasts and Where to Find Them hitting cinemas, there'll be no shortage of magic-driven mayhem (and magic-driven features in this ish, too!).

BERTIE BOTT'S EVERY FLAVOUR BEANS

Send out your house elf to grab a bag of these at the nearest Candy Corner, stat! You can munch on them while enjoying a screening of Fantastic Beasts ...until you chomp down on a vomit flavored one that is! Ewww!

BUTTON-MASH WITH THE BEAR BROS

If you can't get enough of Grizz, Pan-pan, and Ice Bear, you can visit cartoonnetworkasia.com and check out the free online We Bare Bears vgames. Shoot mad hoops in Bearsketball, test your bear stacking skillz while avoiding the wrath of Nomnom in Impawsible Fame, and the Which Bear Are You? personality quiz lets you discover which bear bro you are most like. Pawsome!

5 DESCENDANTS 2

Descendants, fans, rejoice! A sequel to the original hit that starred the kids of the most infamous Disney villains is in the works. This time around, VKs Mal, Evie, Carlos and Jay face new challenges in Auradon. And even Prince Ben joins in on the action. Stay tuned!

6 KUH KUH HARAJUKU!

Meet the latest girl squad that's going to (literally) rock on for Nickelodeon. Love, Angel, Music, Baby, and their leader G make up HJ5, a supah cool band that travels the world and plays smashin' gigs! Bonus brownie points for this new too: Its creator is former The Voice judge Gwen Stefani.

7 CASA SAN PABLO

We take a tour of this bed and breakfast in Laguna that's the perfect getaway for you and the fambam (we should know, they hosted KZ's annual brainstorming for this year)! If you're lookin' to chill with the sibs and the 'rents, check out this month's Field Trip, yo!

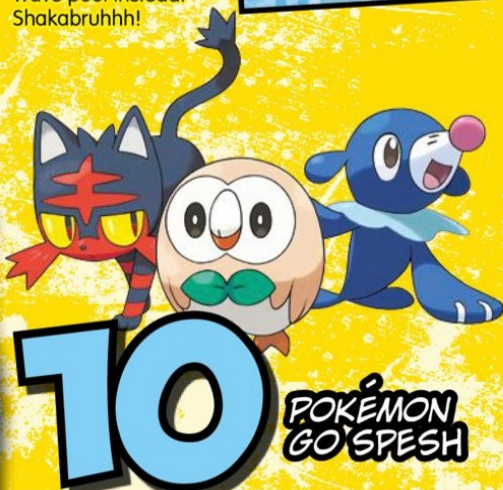

8 HANG LOOSE

Not ready to try out real surfing in the ocean? Don't worry! You can catch schweet waves at Club Manila East's awesomesauce wave pool instead! Shakabruh!!!

PERCY JACKSON AND THE OLYMPIANS RICK RIORDAN

This Greek mythology-inspired series takes place in the modern world, but features creatures and gods from the past—but you already knew that from the movies, right? Start binge reading these books, because there are tons of details that didn't make it to the big screen.

THE WORST WITCH JILL MURPHY

You'll have lotsa lulz while reading about Mildred Hubble's clumsiness. The series has seven stories that document Mildred's time at Miss Cackle's Academy of Witches and her Fail Whale-worthy experiences.

THE GIRL WHO CAN FLY/THE BOY WHO KNEW EVERYTHING VICTORIA FORESTER

These two books follow Conrad, a super-genius, and his best friend, Piper the flier, as they lead a group of gifted children on a mission to save the world. #BFFGoals

All books are available at National Book Store.

A TALE OF HIGHLY UNUSUAL MAGIC

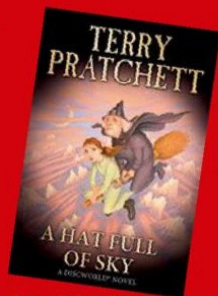

LISA PAPADEMETRIOU

This enchanting book tells the story of two girls from opposite sides of the world, who each stumble upon a blank book called The Exquisite Corpse. As they write messages to each other, they unravel a love story between Ralph T. Flabbergast and Edwina Pickle.

A HAT FULL OF SKY

TERRY PRATCHETT

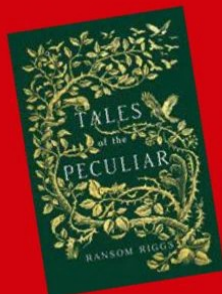

Tiffany Aching is a young witch who struggles with a hiver—an entity that can control minds. Discover what happens next when you grab your own copy!

TALES OF THE PECULIAR

RANSOM RIGGS

Before Miss Peregrine provided a safe haven for the Peculiars, their stories were jotted down in this anthology. This book tells us about the stories of the fork-tongued princess, peculiar-feasting cannibals, and the origins of Ymbrynes.

CHIT CHAT

WE CHAT WITH LEET LOUD HOUSE CREATOR CHRIS SAVINO ABOUT HIS CHILDHOOD, FAVE LOUD SIS, AND THE MYSTERY BEHIND LINCOLN'S HAIR.

K-ZONE: Hi, Chris! What's the best part about growing up with a big family?

Chris Savino: : (It's great) being around all those people all the time. You'll never feel lonely 'coz there's always somebody to talk to, do something with, or get into a fight with, no matter what.

KZ: You based Loud House on RL experiences, so which character can you relate with the most?

CS: Luan 'coz she's the resident jokester. She likes cracking jokes and doesn't let up—she won't let a bad joke stop her from telling another one. And that's pretty much me since I'm well known for having that kind of humor.

KZ: Linc's the only Loud kid with white hair. What's up with that?

CS: I jokingly say that Lincoln's hair is white because he used to be a rabbit. I couldn't pick a color that would be unique and iconic for this kid. So, I just said "no color." And if you say, "Hey, do you know that character with white hair?" Nobody could pick one. So we're going to make white hair synonymous to Lincoln Loud.

KZ: If you could make a crossover between Loud House and any other NickToon, which show would it be?

CS: I think I'd like to see Lincoln and Arnold (From Hey Arnold!) hang out. I think they'd be good friends. They would probably find some fun crazy adventure to go on that would get them in trouble. I think the kids in Arnold's world would really get along with the siblings in the Loud House world. I think Lori and Helga would get along great. But yeah, I think Hey Arnold! would be the closest show that I could see a crossover happening.

MAGIZOOLOGIST MUST-HAVES

Accio, suitcase! Newt Scamander from Fantastic Beasts and Where to Find Them packs the enchanted essentials needed for a worldwide creature search.

EXTENSION CHARM

Newt cast this spell in order to increase the luggage capacity of his suitcase, so he could fit virtually anything including magical creatures and himself. Btdubs, Hermione Granger used the same spell in the Harry Potter series.

JOURNAL

You gotta document your beastly findings after all.

WAND

This unique wand is made of lime and bone core—great for casting defensive spells should an Erumpent come charging through.

WORLD MAP

Because Newt collects beasts from all over the world.

HUFFLEPUFF SCARF

Because Newt will always be reppin' his Hogwarts House, #EverydayI'mHuffin

ALARM CLOCK

To keep tabs on wizard standard time, natch.

MUGGLE-WORTHY SWITCH

A flick of a wrist and a click of the switch will transform enchanted objects into mundane Muggle junk.

MAGNIFYING GLASS

Makes it easier to observe teeny-tiny things like bowtruckles.

NEW YORK CITY MAP

Because Newt can't charm his way out of everything, he alerts Muggle—oh wait, they have a different name over here—No-Maj suspicion. So it's best to navigate the old-school way.

QUILL AND INK

So Newt can write home to his pals—via Owl, of course.

BEATEN-UP BINOCULARS

For when Newt has to search for winged critters, like a Billywig or a Swooping Evil, way up in the sky.

BOWTIE

Newt wears a bowtie so he can look of presentable Goldstein. Popertina Alert: They eventually get married in the future.

PAJAMAS

No need to cast additional spells because this sleepwear is ridiculously comfy all on its own.

BOOKS

He's gotta do a lot of research during his travels.

FLORA & FAUNA

Moana's islan

You don't need to be the Chosen One to brave unknown oceans and explore far-off islands. Make like Moana before setting sail and you'll be ready in no time!

Learn to Love the Water (Or Love It More)

There's no way around this one, given that you'll be surrounded by miles and miles of it for about 95% of the time. Embrace it, be one with it, and if you get seasick, chalk it up to experience.

Know Where You're Going

Okay, ideally you're supposed to just "go where the wind takes you" when you're exploring, but it doesn't hurt to be more familiar with the area, so you can avoid run-ins with any weird creatures, er, characters!

Gear Up

And we're not just talking about the basics, like sunblock or drinking water. Consider bringing a first-aid kit and fire-proof gear in case you encounter a lava monster that spawned from the depths of a nearby island volcano.

and hop how-to

Seek a Hop Partner

When it comes to exploring, the more, the merrier! Besides, where's the fun in exploring new places without a friend or two to share it with? So, grab a pal before you start your adventure. Bonus points if they can shape-shift 'cause you'll never know when that will come in handy!

Make Friends with the Locals

Locals know everything there is to know about the islands that they call home—from the best places to catch gnarly waves to the most colorful folktales that will test the limits of your imagination.

Be Brave

Island hopping ain't just for discovering new places, it's also about uncovering things about yourself—strengths, weaknesses, and everything in between. Don't be afraid to rise up to the occasion and take on the challenges ahead.

What would you do if you wake up one Fairy Tail guild, of course! Drop lowdown on the best

FAIRY TAIL

One of the most powerful guilds in the land of Fiore and the home of our heroes. Despite its status, they welcome newbies, non-mages, and even former enemies, like Juvia and Gajeel.

Notable Members:

Makarov Dreyar (Guild Master)
Natsu Dragneel, Gray Fullbuster
Lucy Heartfilia, Erza Scarlet

PHANTOM LORD

Fairy Tail's most famous and formidable rival. The Phantom Lord guild is known for its guild master's Shade Magic and an HQ that features a gigantic enchanted cannon that can transform into a mega mecha.

Notable Members:

Jose Porla (Guild Master)
Gajeel Redfox, Juvia Lockser

CRIME SORCIÈRE

Crime Sorcière consists of reformed mages trying to atone for their past crimes by hunting down and destroying dark guilds. Being an independent guild, they're not officially recognized by the Magic Council. Since they're a big help to other guilds in need during missions, they're pretty legit in our book.

Notable Members:

Jellal Fernandes (Founder)
Ultear Milkovich, Angel

GRIMOIRE HEART

A dark guild that wants to take over the world by eradicating non-magic users and unsealing Zeref, one of the world's most evil mages (He's like Voldemort with a nose). Grimoire Heart was founded by Fairy Tail's previous guild master whose base is a Deathstar-like floating airship. Whoa!

Notable Members:
Hades (Guild Master)
Bluenote Sting,
Ultear Milkovich, Meredy

CAIT SHELTER

Members of Cait Shelter are rumored to be descendants of the Nirvit tribe. Not much else is known about the guild, except that it's a close ally of Fairy Tail, and one of its members, Wendy Marvell, is a dragon slayer who specializes in powerful healing magic. Support FTW!

Notable Members:
Roubanai (Guild Master)
Wendy Marvell, Carla

BLUE PEGASUS

Blue Pegasus is famous for having a roster of very attractive mages, with some members gracing magazine pages and beauty pageants. They ain't just about looking good—they also work with Fairy Tail in fighting dark guilds and are frequent top contenders in Flore's Grand Magic Games.

Notable Members:
Bob (Guild Master)

Difficulty Level: Medium
No. of Players: 2 to 4

Mechanics: Each player will create a guild made up of three heroes. All teams will go on a set of quests throughout the map and will be first guild to accomplish this wins and will be rewarded with gold or magical items. The game ends when the players reach the sixth map where they'll challenge the main baddie. Oh, and you can attack other heroes and hoard their loot if you defeat them.

Magic The Gathering: Arena of the Planeswalkers

Difficulty Level: Medium
No. of Players: 2 to 5

Mechanics: Choose among Nissa Revane, Chandra Nalaar, Liliana Vess, Jace Beleren, and Gideon Jura to be your planeswalker (interdimensional travelers) and lead your squad to victory. You can cast magical attacks using spell cards or summon mythical creatures that'll help you win and gain control of a part or even the whole board. Throwing the dice determines the combat system, which means luck also plays a vital role, bros.

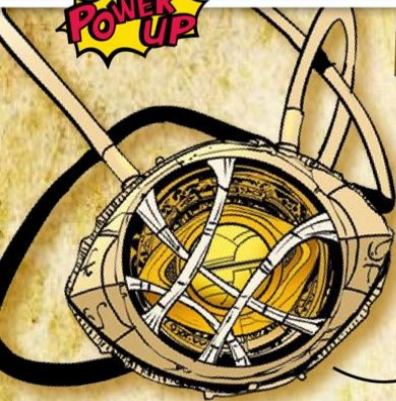

Dragon Valley

Difficulty Level: Medium
No. of Players: 2

Mechanics: Players must use the wands A.K.A. the black and brown sticks to lift the younglings (read: baby dragons) and transport them back to the Dragon Valley before the wizard reaches the Mage Tower.

POWER UPTHE EYE OF AGAMOTTO

Doctor Strange holds this magical amulet, which is believed to have been made by a Vishanti, a mystical being of immense power. Agamotto the All-Seeing imbued the Eye with his own magic, enabling it to see all truths and dispel all illusions.

DYK? The Eye of Agamotto was used to turn back time in the comics. That's pretty cool, huh?

GREEN LANTERN POWER RING

The Power Ring is the source of the Green Lantern Corps' magical abilities. Through sheer willpower, the wearer can perform amazing feats like shoot energy blasts, generate force fields, construct weapons, phase through obstacles, turn invisible, and fly. All that power literally at your fingertips.

COLLECTOR'S ITEM

CHECK OUT THESE INSANELY COOL AND POWERFUL MAGICAL ARTIFACTS FROM THE COMIC BOOK VERSE

INFINITY GAUNTLET

Thanos's fave collectible plays a vital role in the Marvel Cinematic Universe. Once it holds all six Infinity Stones, each one containing the power to wipe out an entire planet, the gauntlet's owner will be given immeasurable power and can do anything he wishes. No wonder Thanos is in a mad hunt to collect all of the Infinity Stones. Good luck saving the world, Avengers!

MJOLNIR

As seen in the movies, only those who are worthy can wield Mjölnir. Forged in the core of a star, and enchanted by Odin himself, this legendary hammer is unbreakable. Wielding the mighty wep gives the user the power of flight, lightning manipulation, and magical energy.

LAUSS OF TRUTH

Wonder Woman brawls with baddies using her fists and throws The Lasso of Truth to wrangle them in. The lasso forces anyone in its grip to tell the truth. It is also indestructible and can alter its length. You'll be able to see it in action in Wonder Woman's movie next year!

KIDZLANE DURABLE WALKIE-TALKIES

These bad boys' 3-kilometer range will help you keep in touch with your squad. If you feel something strange in the neighborhood, alert them using the walkie-talkie's beep function and they'll head over to you in a jiff! Plus, its battery lasts up to three hours. Ghost hunting is not a one-man job, dude. NEVER DO IT ALONE. #WhoYouGonnaCall

1BYONE SAFETY DRIVEWAY PATROL

Ghosts constantly move about, so you're going to need a good motion sensor. Several 1byone Safety Driveway Patrol motion sensors can be synced with each other, increasing its range of detection for movement. Pro Tip: Put a low-light camera next to each sensor. This way, you'll have some evidence of who (or what's) lurking about!

HUNT DEM GHASTLY GHOULS

HUDDLE UP, GHOST BUSTERS! WE'RE BRINGING YOU SOME BOO-RILLIANT PARANORMAL TECH SO YOU CAN COMMUNICATE WITH THE SPIRITS FROM BEYOND. Awoooo!

BOOBUDDY JUNIOR GHOST HUNTING EMF BEAR

A stuffed bear as a ghostly medium? You better believe it! This cool toy has a built-in EMF detector, a tool used to measure electromagnetic changes (read: detect energy shifts in the surroundings). Place the teddy bear in the middle of the room and turn on the switch. Once it detects paranormal activity, the lights on the stuffed toy should light up. You can now start asking questions to the speakers on the bear's mouth, and when something responds, the other lights will light up as well. YOU'RE NOW TALKING TO GHOSTS, DUDE!

SOLARAY PRO ZX-1

You can only do ghost hunting at night, so it's pretty obvs that you'll need a flashlight—and adult supervision. Stand back-to-back with your bud while flashing your Solaray Pro ZX-1 to cover all the directions that ghosts might come from! The kit also comes with a mini LED flashlight in case your flashlights' batteries run dry.

Not ready for the oceans yet, bruh? Steel your surfing skills by trying out some wave pool surfing!

WAVE POOL SURFING? FOR REALSIES?!

Wave pool surfing is not that different from actual surfing. It's the sport of riding a wave using a surfboard, except it's done in a wave pool instead of the open sea.

Coach
Francis Sarsaba

HALT, YOUNG WAYERIDER!

Here are some reminders before shredding waves.

Slather on sunscreen before going into the water. Better not risk getting nasty sun burn, bruh.

If you're a surfing noob, listen carefully to the instructor during the briefing session and don't be afraid to ask questions. He will tell you the safety reminders and basics so that you'll have a great time riding the waves.

Wear proper swimming attire. Use a rash guard so your skin won't stick to the wax on the surfboard.

Try wave pool surfing when you visit Club Manila East at KM 24 Manila East Road, Taytay, Rizal. Or if you wanna learn more about surfing, you can contact the Philippine Surfing Academy at www.philippinesurfingacademy.com.

LOW

SURF'S UP!

Follow these simple steps and you'll be riding waves with ease in no time!

- 1 First, ride your board lying down on your belly. Then, tuck your palms under your armpits in a push up position, and position your toes to touch the tail end.
- 2 As the instructor pushes your board, wait for his signal before pushing yourself up.
- 3 Slowly stand up by stepping down your back foot first (if you're right-handed, then your back foot is prolly your left foot) then position your front foot at a 45 degree angle. Do not panic or you'll wipe out like this.
- 4 As you get up, stay cool and look forward. Spread your arms to improve your balance.
- 5 When you reach the end of the pool, walk off the board to get off. Do not jump into the water as it may cause you to hit your head on the pool's floor.

FRIGHT FEST

MAGICAL MAYHEM

Wanna see a magic trick?

Bravo Dakila was a middle-aged magician (and not a very good one) who performed at my cousin's birthday party last summer. He had an assistant who looked around my age. Her name was Majica "Mica" Dakila, his daughter. She tried her best to smile, but every time her father messed up a trick, she'd just shake her head. I think Mica might have been more serious about magic than her dad was.

I spoke to her at the party and we became friends. She showed me how the tricks work and at which parts her father made mistakes. We practiced tricks together all summer, and even came up with some of our own. Turns out, she was also a student at my school, so we started our own magic show on the playground, where kids would watch and applaud. Everything was going well until the bigger kids started bullying us.

Many of the other kids had her dad perform at their birthdays, with Mica by his side. They all assumed that Mica was just as bad as him at magic, and they all gave her a hard time about it. But she wanted to prove to techniques, and how to sell a diversion.

I became friends with the other kids from school, and more people started coming to magic practice. Mica didn't like it at all and became more distant. The other kids tried befriending her by asking about her tricks, but she never answered them.

"It was our thing," she said. "Why did you have to tell everyone our secrets?"

"I thought we could share it with—"

"No!" Mica screamed at me. "They used to make fun of us for doing magic. Now that it's cool, they suddenly want to become our friends? They're so fake!"

"Mica, isn't that what magic is about?" I asked her. "Isn't magic about making people happy?" "No," she said. "It was about us having something special that no one else had. It was about us being able to do something that they can't," she said.

After that incident, Mica stopped showing up for magic practice. I went to her house to ask if she's okay. When Mica opened the door, she looked pale and her eyes were wet with tears. She was wearing a strange black scarf. I asked her how she was and she said, "I found some real magic."

The next day, Mica still wore her black scarf. She approached the kids who were practicing their tricks and challenged them to a trick-off to determine who the best playground magician was.

She put her scarf over one kid, stepped away, then mumbled a few magic words. The scarf suddenly fell to the ground, the kid suddenly disappearing.

When someone asked how she did it, she would tell them, "Why don't you come over here and find out?"

Other kids started to volunteer, curious about where their friends went. I noticed something strange. The more she used the scarf, the wider and longer it seemed to become. Eventually, she was making entire groups of students disappear. During one show, she started walking toward me.

"Do you have a trick to show me?" she asked, the scarf was trailing behind her like a hungry snake. It slithered up her leg until it was once again around her neck.

"Come on. I'm sure you have a few tricks up your sleeve. You seemed to have plenty to share with the other kids," she said. The scarf slithered up her neck and one end started to go inside her ear. She was now standing in front of me.

"Show me something, friend," she said and as she opened her mouth, the end of the scarf that entered her ear came out of her throat and started to wrap around my neck. I closed my eyes and I knew what would happen next. I felt the scarf over me, and it held me like a python would hold its prey. I shut my eyes tightly and gasped for breath while clutching my neck.

When I opened my eyes, all the kids were there. We were all at the same spot, but Mica wasn't there. It was absolutely quiet. I tried to remember what happened, and when I did, I started to panic. This was Mica's revenge. Those who liked to watch the magic shows no longer had eyes. Those who liked to ask questions about magic no longer had mouths. And those who were distracted upon the mention of magic lost their ears. Mica made sure that the other kids would see no magic, hear no magic, and speak of no magic.

She made sure that all the magic was hers.

everyone that she was a better magician than her dad. The two of us practiced hard to perfect our tricks and we became very efficient at building props.

Our act eventually sparked interest in other kids. They tried the same tricks that we performed on the playground. Whenever they saw me, they'd ask me questions about hand

OPERATION: VACATION

Here's why Casa San Pablo is the perfect destination for family getaways and escaping busy city vibes.

YOU MUD, BRUH?

Beautiful clay figurines greet you upon entering Casa's reception area. You can even join one of their Clay Creativity Workshops conducted by An Alcantara, clay-artisan and one of the owners of CSP.

EAT YOUR HEART OUT

CSP has good food, period. They have a special roasted tomato sauce that goes great with almost every meal. A few of their local home-cooked specialties include chicken on peanut sauce, lechon kawali, fried tilapia, and their infamous kamote-top juice.

RUSTIC MAGIC

The entire dining room is the epitome of rustic. It's filled with old wooden furniture partnered with wall art and other decor. Just being inside the room makes you feel like you've traveled back to the Spanish era.

NEVER-ENDING NOSTALGIA

Displayed at one of the holding rooms is an old Family Computer console. Seeing it for the first time deftly hit us in the gamer feels.

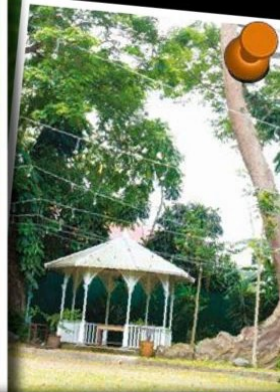

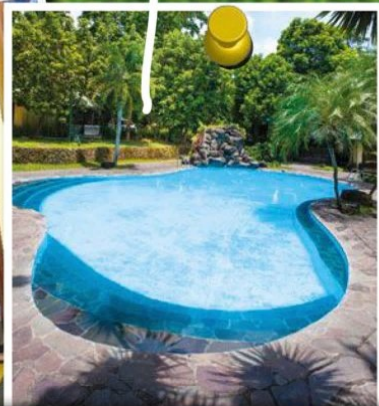

RAD ROOM

Room Two is the most requested room in Casa San Pablo. The place features a collection of vintage Hot Wheels cars displayed on the walls and tables. A room that mixes old-school and modern vibes is totally A+ in our book.

SPLASH ATTACK

After basking in nature during your walk around the compound, why not hang out and cool down at the swimming pool with your sibs? The cool refreshing water will make you wish that you could be on a permanent vacation.

Visit Casa San Pablo at Colago Avenue, San Pablo City, Laguna. You can visit their website at www.casasanpablo.com or Facebook page at www.facebook.com/casasanpablo for more deets.

KZ SERVES UP THE ULTIMATE GUIDE ON HOW TO CATCH 'EM ALL!

POKÉWHUUT?!

Pokémon Go is an Augmented Reality gaming app for the iOS and Android that allows you to capture digital pocket monsters in the real world by using your tab or your smartphone.

After DL-ing the app, you'll be asked to create an account and your trainer's look. Name your character, choose your cool training gear, and then head for a quick briefing by Professor Willow.

START UP!

Just like in the core Pokémon games, you'll begin your journey as a trainer by choosing one out of three first gen starter Pokémon—Bulbasaur, Squirtle, or Charmander. Once you decide on your starter, tap your chosen 'mon and throw a Poké Ball at it by swiping your finger toward the critter on your screen.

LIGHTNING STRIKES. WANT PIKACHU AS YOUR STARTER? CHECK OUT PAGE 84 AND LEARN HOW TO ACQUIRE THIS ELECTRICALLY-CHARGED CRITTER.

TEAM SPIRIT

When you reach Level 5, you'll be allowed to choose from three different Teams: Instinct, Mystic, and Valor.

STOP, CATCHING TIME.

Locations in the game correspond to RL places, and in order to catch Pokémon, you need to roam around while the PoGo app is running. Note that not all 150+ Pokémon will appear in your house or backyard, and some can only be found in specific locations A.K.A. nests or spawn points, so it is important to explore different places if you wanna catch 'em all!

LOOT BAG

Collect important items via PokéStops. These markers are often located on important historical places, famous structures, statues, or artistic landmarks. Activate a Stop by going near it and swiping the rotating disc in the center to the left or to the right to collect items such as Poké Balls and Potions.

ITEMIZE!

FAMILIARIZE YOURSELF WITH THESE IMPORTANT POGO ELEMENTS.

Potion/Super Potion/Hyper Potion: Items that heal weakened Pokémon

Revive: Awakens Pokémon that have fainted after a Gym battle.

Lucky Egg: Doubles the amount of XP you gain from catching or evolving Pokémon for 30 minutes.

Razz Berry: Can be fed to wild Pokémon to make them easier to catch and prevent them from escaping.

Egg Incubator: A special container used to hatch Eggs.

Lure Module: A temporary use item that's dropped on a PokéStop in order to attract wild Pokémon. Other players in the area can benefit from the Lure, too.

Incense: A one-time use item that attracts Pokémon to the player who activated it.

Candy: Used during evolving and powering up Pokémon. Can be obtained from hatching Eggs, catching 'mons, and transferring critters to Professor Willow.

POKÉ BALLIN'

WE CRACK OPEN SOME POKÉ BALLS AND IMAGINE WHAT COULD POSSIBLY BE GOING ON INSIDE THEM.

POKÉ BALL

The Poké Ball provides a standard-sized bedroom where a Pokémon can chill before their next battle.

SAFARI BALL

A type of Poké Ball that you can only use when you're in the Safari Zone. When inside the ball, a Pokémon can enjoy a cozy tent set-up complete with a campfire. (Great for roasting Berries)

DIVE BALL

Water-types will have the time of their lives in this mini resort. They can even use their Surf move to catch waves—and it's super effective!

DUSK BALL

This ball was specially made to catch nocturnal critters and has one heck of a party spread inside. Perfect for a 'mon who wants to dance all night long.

HEAVY BALL

When an XL Pokémon wants to take a break, they head inside this ultimate couch potato haven. They can play vgames, marathon movies, and nosh while waiting to be summoned.

MASTER BALL

A.K.A. The Legendary Pokémon Suite. It's the swankiest place around that's only reserved for the rarest Pokémon. This Poké Ball's even got a robot butler.

QUIRKY 'MONS

WE GIVE YA A RUNDOWN OF THE WEIRDEST AND LULZIEST POKÉMON ONE COULD EVER ENCOUNTER IN THE POKÉ 'VERSE.

GARBODOR

Pokédex Number: 569

Type: Poison

First Appearance: Pokémon Black/White

We're guessing that this 'mon came to life as a result of peeps not throwing their trash properly. Better keep some air freshener ready for this one!

MIMIKYU

Pokédex Number: TBA

Type: Ghost/Fairy

First Appearance: Pokémon Black/White
Pikachu, is that chu? We're as confused (and terrified) as you are about what really lies underneath that creepy-slash-low-budget Pikachu cosplay!

VANILLUXE

Pokédex Number: 584

Type: Ice

First Appearance: Pokémon Black/White

You can unleash this sweet treat, er, 'mon when ya need to chill after a crazy hot day of playing Pokémon Go. But be careful, bros, Vanilluxe may be cute and sweet, but it's also one of the toughest Ice-types out there.

COMFEY

Pokédex Number: TBA

Type: Fairy

First Appearance:

Pokémon Sun/Moon
Something tells us that the best time to catch this Pokémon is during a music festival! You won't need that Snapchat lens with Comfey by your side!

KLEFKI

Pokédex Number: 707

Type: Steel/Fairy

First Appearance:

Pokémon X/Y

Klefki is the key! Keep this Pokémon handy when you find yourself in the sticky sitch of getting locked inside or outside of a room!

LIFE

TRAINER REMINDERS

Constant vigilance, fam.

1. TRAFFIC TIME

A leet Pokémon trainer knows how to cross the street properly. He'll take a pause from playing the game and walk on the pedestrian lane with an adult.

2. KNOW THY AREA

Before heading out, make sure you know the ins and outs of the area so ya don't get lost.

3. DO NOT ENTER

Don't trespass into unknown territory! That rare 'mon ain't worth much if it gets you into serious trouble, bro.

GET HYPNO HYPED

PoGo-ers, unite!

1. FANDOM FUN

Online communities are a good source of info 'cause they tell ya where the cool Lure Parties are or where a certain Pokémon can be found. So what are ya waiting for? Click join, stat!

2. FRIENDSHIP IS MAGIC

Because everything is way more fun when the squad is around. Besides, who else would you celebrate with when you've finally caught that Dragonite?

3. YOU DO YOU

Don't be ashamed of your PoGo geekery and say it loud and proud. You never know if you'll befriend like-minded peeps, too.

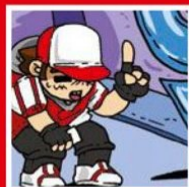

POGO MVP

Be on your best player behavior!

1. THANKS A LOT!

If someone was nice enough to drop a Lure and you know who that person is, be a good bro and say thanks.

2. GET OVER IT

Bummed that the Pokémon fled? Cheer up 'coz there's more where that came from.

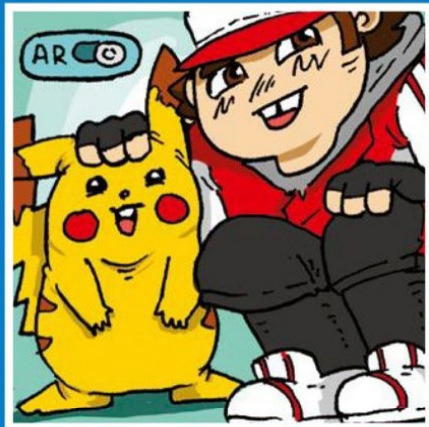

POKÉMON

GO EDITION

TO AR OR NOT TO AR...

That is the trainer question

Augmented Reality (AR) Mode quickly drains your batteries and it actually makes catching Pokémon a lot harder. But to fully enjoy the PoGo experience, the AR is a must. You wouldn't want to miss Pikachu jumping on your dinner table.

THE MASTER PLAN

Things to remember before heading out to become the very best.

1. LOOK UP

The first rule of Pokémon Go is to always be aware of your surroundings. Beware of Team Rocket (A.K.A. thieves) lurking in the area.

2. JUICE UP

Don't forget to charge your battery pack before a Pokéwalk. Stash your cables and even more power banks (in case the one you're using gets drained) in your bag.

3. LOAD UP

Get that mobile Internet because otherwise, you can't play PoGo. Luckily, prepaid users have internet budget promos dedicated for PoGo players.

4. SUIT UP

Get yer head in the game by dressing the part. Use your avatar's outfit as a reference for top trainer steez. Wear cool sneaks for maximum comfort.

5. GEAR UP

Prepping for a long day of Pokémon hunting? Fill your inventory (A.K.A. your bag) with these essentials: Water bottle, towel, snacks, pocket money, and an extra shirt.

3. ONE MORE

We get ya, dude. There's always one more stop to visit, Gym to battle, and 'mon to catch but you gotta keep track of the time or else your 'rents might worry. Always keep them updated via text or better yet, ask the fam bam to accompany you on your Pokéwalk.

4. I SCREAM FOR ICE CREAM

Did you capture a rare 'mon? Ice cream. Conquered a Gym? Ice cream. Hatched a Lucky Egg? Ice cream. Reward yourself!

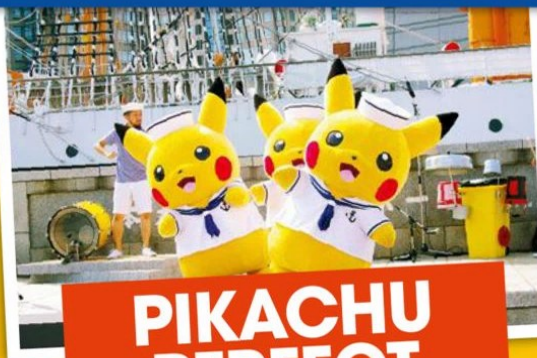

PIKACHU, I CHOOSE YOU!

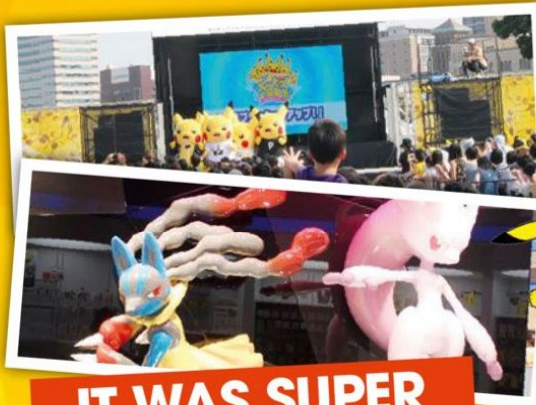

August 7 to 14 this year was a special week for the Pokémon superstar 'coz it was the third Pikachu Outbreak! Pikachu-themed decorations and mega mascots were all over Minato Mirai and the energy was electric. From simple mall shows to elaborate projections, the Pikachu Outbreak: Splash was defo a big hit.

PIKACHU PERFECT

There were several amazeballs activities that fans could attend throughout the day. The Stomp Show, that was held at Nippon Maru Memorial Park, had three Pikachu dressed in sailor uniforms. They danced and stomped their fluffy feet to a catchy beat. Plus, a random dude played a sink as a musical instrument. LOL! At the Super Soaking Splash Show, a Pikachu boy band showed off their slick dance moves while water rained on the audience. The "Smile! Smile! Smile!" mall show, on the other hand, was like a musical. There was an evil Pikachu on skates who realized that being good is always better.

IT WAS SUPER EFFECTIVE!

The grand finale was the Pikachu and the Dancing Explorer: Mystery of the Jungle show. The Yokohama Tower Dockyard was illuminated by projections of a short film starring Pikachu and an explorer. They discovered ancient tombs and a garden with hundreds of dancing Pikachu! However, a cranky Gyarados interrupted the festivities and duked it out with Pikachu. Good thing our fave Electric-type 'mon shocked the Water-type predator!

DYK?

THESE PIKACHU MASCOTS CAN WIGGLE THEIR EARS. THE COSTUME FEELS SUPER SOFT AND VELVETY JUST LIKE A PLUSHIE!

AT THE POKÉMON MEGA CENTER IN TOKYO, YOU CAN SPOT DIFFERENT PIKACHU PLUSHIES ROCKING DIFFERENT COSTUMES. THERE'S A HULA PIKACHU, RAINY DAY PIKACHU, AND EVEN PIKACHU PLUSHIES WEARING THE TRADITIONAL GARB OF DIFFERENT COUNTRIES!

THE POKÉMON ILLUSION DOME AT DECKS TOKYO BEACH IS AN INTERACTIVE INSTALLATION THAT MAKES YOU FEEL LIKE YOU'RE PART OF A POKÉMON MOVIE SCENE. THE CHARACTERS REACT TO THE VISITOR'S TOUCH WITH SOUNDS AND MOVEMENTS. IT WAS BUILT TO COMMEMORATE THE POKÉMON MOVIE PREMIERE AND DECKS TOKYO BEACH'S 20TH ANNIVERSARY.

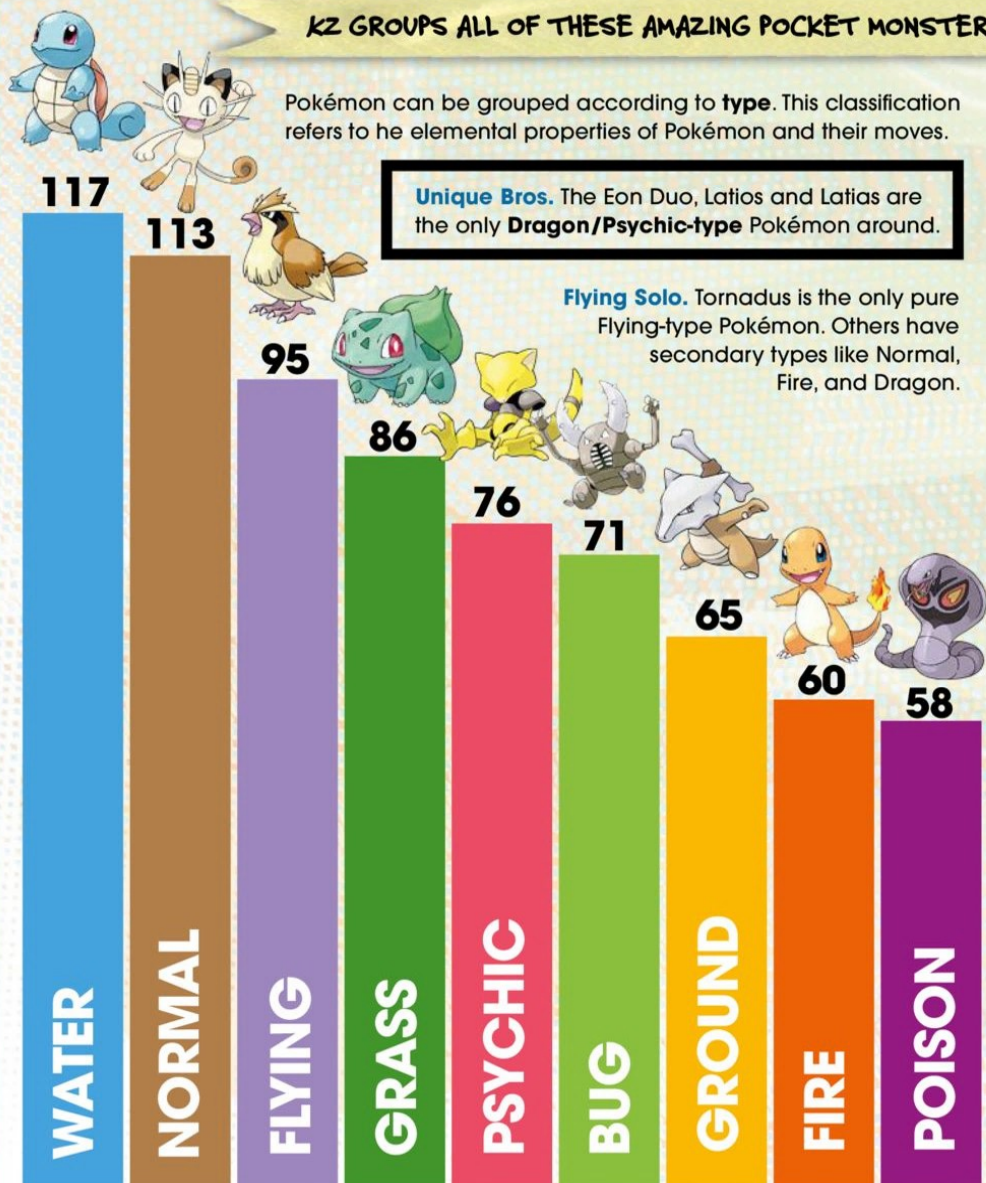

GOTTA GRO

KZ GROUPS ALL OF THESE AMAZING POCKET MONSTERS

Pokémon can be grouped according to type. This classification refers to the elemental properties of Pokémon and their moves.

Unique Bros. The Eon Duo, Latios and Latias are the only Dragon/Psychic-type Pokémon around.

Flying Solo. Tornadus is the only pure Flying-type Pokémon. Others have secondary types like Normal, Fire, and Dragon.

UP 'EM ALL!

(ACCORDING TO THEIR TYPE) INTO ONE EPIC BAR GRAPH. #STACKEDIT

Move it! There are moves in the game that when used, can change a Pokémon's type during battle. These moves are:

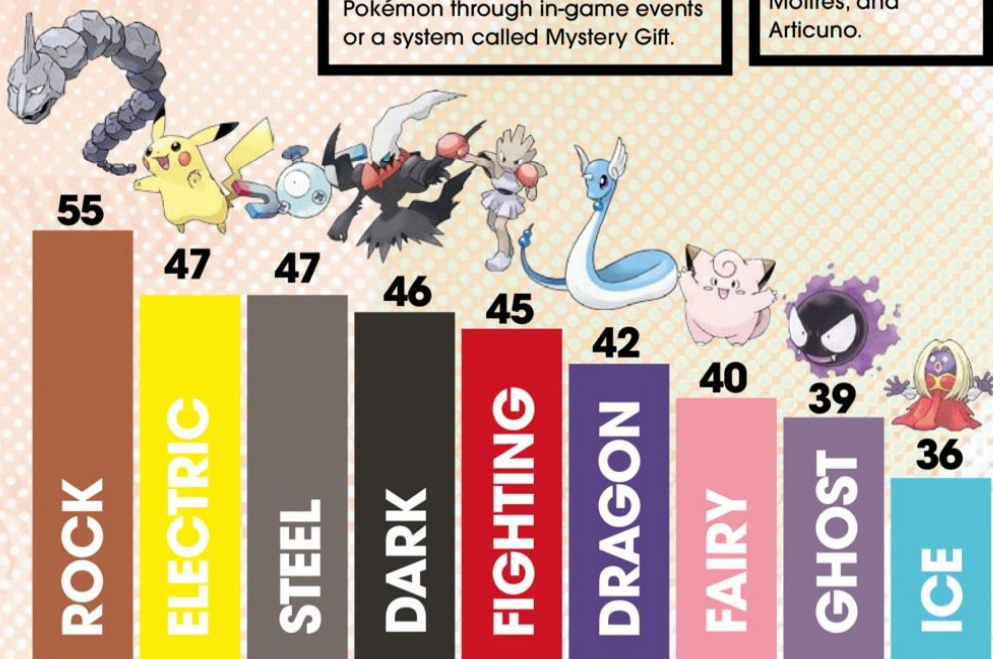

1. Camouflage
2. Conversion
3. Conversion 2
4. Forest's Curse
5. Reflect Type
6. Soak
7. Trick-or-Treat

Aside from types, Pokémon can be classified according to rarity. Rare Pokémon can be further classified under Legendary and Mythical.

Let's get Mythical. The rarest group of Pokémon ever—these creatures are so difficult to find that even characters in the Pokémon world (game and anime) question their existence. Some of the well-known Mythical Pokémon are: Deoxys, Jirachi, Darkrai, Arceus, and Genesect. In the core games, you can only obtain these Pokémon through in-game events or a system called Mystery Gift.

There's a special kind of type called ???-type. Unhatched Pokémon eggs are listed as ???-type until the Pokémon is revealed.

The manga-exclusive Pokémon, Zapmolcuno, is the result of fusing three different Legendary Pokémon: Zapdos, Moltres, and Articuno.

* list includes all Pokémon until the Pokémon X and Y versions

QUICK DRAW

STEP 1: START OF A LEGEND

Lightly sketch the form of Solgaleo using a pencil. His head is shaped like a flower with many petals. Next, draw the outline of his body, limbs, and tail using straight and curved lines, as well as circles. Add a horizontal line on its head to mark the eye line.

STEP 2: FEARSOME FACE

Draw Solgaleo's trapezoid-shaped eye along the eye line, then add his nose by drawing a boomerang in the middle of his face. Add a "greater than" and "less than" symbol beside the nose for the whiskers. Next, draw four spikes on top of his head, and four below his mouth. Lastly, sketch his open mouth and his tongue.

STEP 3: THE MANE EVENT

Sketch three petal shapes on top of his head and two at the bottom for his mane. Solgaleo also has two furry cheeks and a "beard" below his mouth.

STEP 4: RUN, RUN, RUN!

For his front legs, draw ovals for the outline, and straight and curved lines for the details. Put rectangles at the lower part of the legs for the ankle bands and a small diamond shape below it. Add his claws last.

STEP 5: MYTHICAL TAIL

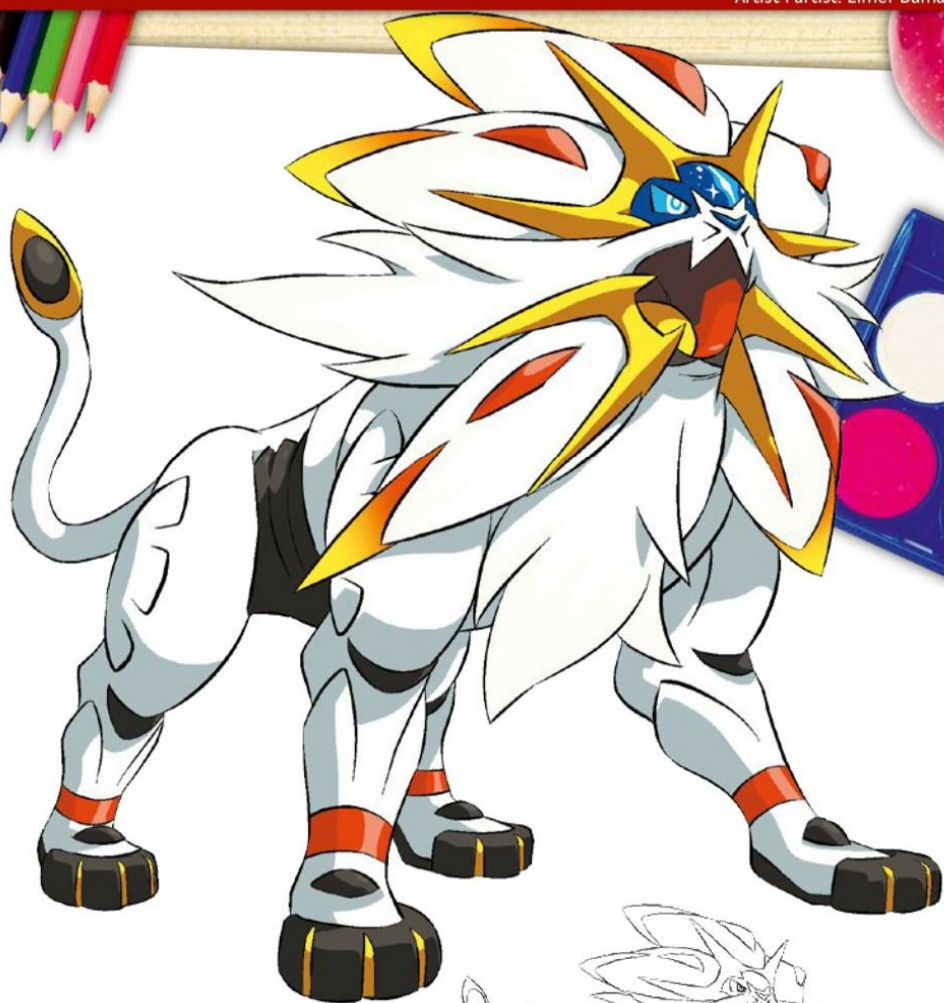

Sketch the rest of Solgaleo's body using straight and curved lines. Add details to his ribs using vertical lines. The end of his tail has a teardrop-shaped tip with an oval gem in the middle.

STEP 6: A LEAP OF FAITH

Draw oval shapes for Solgaleo's hind legs. Then, add lines on the upper portion of the leg in order to add detail. Just like the front legs, draw rectangles on the lower part of the legs for the ankle bands, and a small diamond shape below it. Add the claws last, and don't forget to draw the visible part of his left hind leg.

STEP 7: KING OF THE BEASTS

Trace over all your pencil marks using a pen. Once the ink has dried completely, erase the pencil marks and add color. Solgaleo's skin is white and his eyes and nose are light and dark blue. His ribs, paws, and the gem on his tail are black, while his ankle bands and mane details are orange. His mane has a yellow and red gradient outline, while the spikes on his head are yellow. Use different shades of color to add depth to your art. Solgaleo, we choose you!

Ain't it awesome how this monster (geddit?) franchise—that started way back in the ancient '90s—is more popular than ever? Heck, ask the 'renis or your older sibs about it 'coz they prolly remember playing the game when it was still pixelated (and Pikachu looked like a yellow blob). Or better yet, invite them to play Pokémon Go with you as a fun family bonding activity. Then, ask them to read this month's You Got Game section 'coz it's all about Pikachu and his Poké pals. We'll even help ya up your PoGo game and crush the competition with our top tips and tricks. We also did you a solid and rounded up the most popular Pokémon Gyms in the country. Boruto steals the spotlight away from his dad, Naruto, in the upcoming Naruto Shippuden: Ultimate Ninja Storm 4 DLC expansion pack along with Sarada (A.K.A. Sasuke and Sakura's daughter) and the rest of the new gen shinobi squad of Konoha. Bonus: There's even a playable Adult Sasuke Vs. Kinshiki story mode. Believe it!

GET SCHOOLED!

In the upcoming Pokémon anime series based on Sun and Moon, Ash Ketchum and the gang visit Alola Island. And guess what? The ageless Pokémon trainer is going back to school! (Well, that's a first since we've never seen him inside a classroom before.) Find out if Ash can handle homework as well as he does Pokémon when the show comes out later this year.

POKÉMON SUN AND MOON

PLAY IT ON GENRE JRPG RATING PG

Say Aloha to the Alola region—the setting of Pokémon Sun and Moon. There's so much to explore in this tropical region such as the Generation VII 'mons, a whole new slew of rivals, Pokérides (the best mode of transpo), and more! Y'all ready for this?

MAD MAKEOVER

Your fave Pokémon get a whole new look!

The Alola Form is a regional Pokémon species that have adapted to a tropical climate. Because of this, they end up taking on a new appearance and different abilities. Here are a few 'mons that are endemic to the Alola region.

Alolan Raichu

Type: From Electric to Electric/Psychic
Ability: Surge Surfer (when Electric Terrain is activated, Raichu's speed will be doubled)

Alolan Meowth

Type: From Normal to Dark
Ability: Technician (levels up the power of weak moves)

Alolan Marowak

Type: From Ground to Fire/Ghost
Ability: Cursed Body (an ability that gives its user a 30% chance of disabling an opponent's attacking move for three turns)

Alolan Exeggutor

Type: From Grass/Psychic to Grass/Dragon
Ability: Frisk (Enables the user to sneak a peek at a foe's held item during battle)

BATTLE BITS

Check out these in-game add-ons!

Move On: Gone are the days when trainers memorized the whole elemental chart to determine whether a 'mon is strong or vulnerable against an opponent in battle. The new Sun and Moon combat interface shows how strong a 'mon's attack will be against a particular foe by indicating if it's not very effective, effective, or super effective.

Stranger Danger: Don't you hate it when you run into an inescapable trainer battle unprepared? Now, you can differentiate would-be rivals from the friendly neighborhood NPCs by looking at their stance. Enemy trainers strike a battle pose while NPCs just stand normally.

DID YOU KNOW?

Sandshrew and Vulpix's Ice-type Alola Forms are found on mountain peaks because that's where it snows in Hawaii—where the game's location is based on.

TRAINER TASK LIST

Find out the features of the latest Pokédex model.

The Generation VII Pokédex is so much more than your standard Pokémon catalog. The device is specially designed so that Rotom (an Electric/Ghost-type Pokémon that has the ability to possess appliances) can inhabit it. This means that it will be able to communicate using human language and can help you during the journey. Additional functions of the "Rotom Pokédex" include providing a to-do list of current objectives, recapping important convos with NPCs, and pointing out future quests on the map. Can you say way useful?

THE BIG KAHUNA

Brace yourselves for the Island Challenge!

In this mode, you'll visit Alola region's four islands and undergo a series of trials. These tests include a treasure hunt, a knowledge-based exam, and epic Pokémon battles, to name a few.

The Battle Royal starts now!

Z-SNAP!

When all your powers combine, you get the Z-Move.

The Z-Move is a 'mon's ultimate attack that can only be activated if both Trainer and 'mon possess the same kind of Z-Crystal—one of the collectibles in the game. The Z-Move attack is so epic that its cinematic animation will take up the whole 3DS screen.

EQUATION

TIP

Level up your Pokémon Go skills by following these top tips from your resident Pokémon Masters—Team KZ.

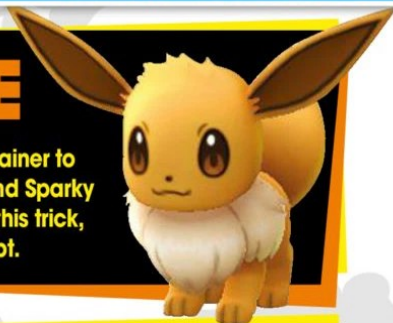

PIKACHU, I CHOOSE YOU!

If you wanna make like Ash Ketchum and get a Pikachu as a starter, then try this: After creating your character, Charmander, Bulbasaur, and Squirtle will appear on the screen. Walk away and ignore them a couple of times and—voilà—Pikachu will appear on your map ready for capture! You're welcs!

CHOOSE YOUR EEVEE

After collecting 25 Eevee Candies, rename your Eevee to Rainer to evolve it into a Vaporeon, Pyro to change it into Flareon, and Sparky to get a Jolteon. Take note that after the first time you use this trick, there's a possibility that it will not work on your next attempt.

LEVEL UP GALORE

Keep catching those Pidgeys, Rattatas, and other common 'mons but don't transfer them—the more you have, the better. Now, access your Items and activate a Lucky Egg in order to double the XP that you earn for 30 minutes. All you need to do now is evolve every Pokémon that you can; each evolution will give you 2,000 XP. Schweet!

HATCHING 101

Keep your PoGo app turned on while riding in the car with the 'rents. You'll earn much needed kilometers to hatch those precious Poké Eggs. FYI: The car should not exceed a speed of 25kph in order for the app to detect and count your movement.

BUDDY UP!

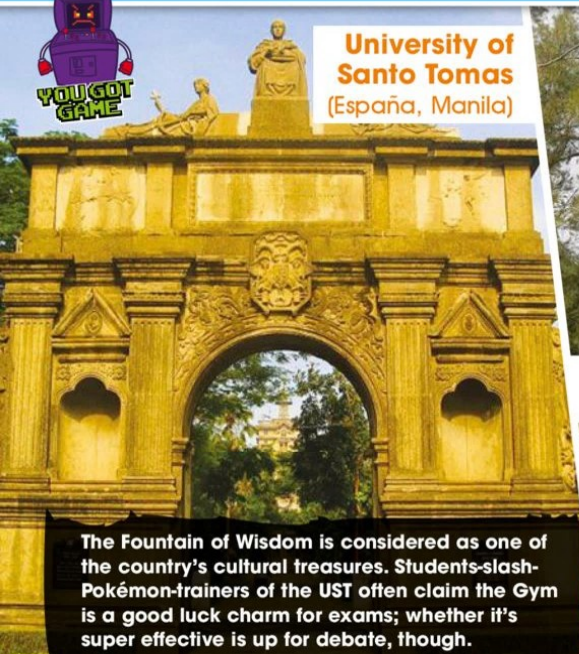

Take advantage of the new buddy system, bruh! Walk around the neighborhood with your partner 'mon, and you'll earn candies in no time. You can accomplish your goal of having a Raichu, an Alakazam, or whatever final evolution Pokémon you want.

POTION COMMOTION

If you're the kind of PoGo player who's not big on Gym battles, then you don't have to hoard heaps of Potions and Revives in your bag. Ditch 'em so you can have more room for your Poké Balls, Razz Berries, and Lure Modules.

University of Santo Tomas
(España, Manila)

The Fountain of Wisdom is considered as one of the country's cultural treasures. Students-slash-Pokémon-trainers of the UST often claim the Gym is a good luck charm for exams; whether it's super effective is up for debate, though.

Magellan's Cross Kiosk (Cebu)

This chapel in front of the city center of Cebu houses Magellan's Cross, a wooden artifact brought by the Portuguese explorers who discovered the Philippines. It just also happens to be a top spot for many Gym battles.

#POKÉPROBS

THE STRUGGLE IS REAL WHEN YOU'RE PLAYING POKÉMON GO.

PREPARE FOR TROUBLE...

And make it double! Don't ya wish that you could play Pokémon Go wherever you go? Unfortunately, it ain't safe outside 'coz there lurks the RL version of Team Rocket (A.K.A. thieves) who are more than ready to snatch your device in a jiff.

LOL LAG!

Let's be real, fam. We don't exactly have world-class Internet speed, so that kinda puts a damper on our Pokémon game. Plus, mobile data usually conks out when you spot a 'mon that you haven't caught (or even worse, already have).

CP CHEATS

When you're about to take over a Pokémon Gym but the Gym Leader's at Level 2,000 (Okay, we're exaggerating a bit but they're at a ridiculously high level). Which means that they prolly hacked their way to the top. That ain't fair! Look on the bright side, at least you can report them for cheating, right?

BATTERY BUMMER

Every Pokémon trainer knows that they gotta bring an extra battery pack. But what if you forget to juice up your power bank? Dun-dun-dun! No PoGo for you! And just when you were trying to hatch an egg, too. Tsk!

THE OL' SWITCHEROO

So, you've duked it out with the opposing team for control of the local Pokémon Gym and finally won. Congrats! Now you're ready to place your Poké pal in position so you can take the gym leader crown but suddenly—bam—another team takes over. Oh no, bro!

How can I defeat Ho-Oh in Pokémon Super Mystery Dungeon?

You must have already recruited Zapdos, Articuno, Moltres, and Lugia before proceeding to the end of the Rainbow Bridge where Ho-Oh awaits. Rock-type attacks are your best bet to defeating the legendary avian Pokémon. Rock-type attacks are super effective against both Flying- and Fire-type, which means Ho-Oh will receive four times the damage because it is a Fire/Flying-type 'mon.

TIP TRIP

Treia Pe Benito gives super effective Pokémon Red and Blue/FireRed and LeafGreen advice.

Choose Bulbasaur as a starter Pokémon to have an advantage over the first three Pokémon Gyms. Bulbasaur can totes hold his own against Brock's Rock-type 'mons and Misty's Water-type 'mons and is resistant to Lt. Surge's Electric-type Pokémon. Bulba-soar to the top, fellow trainers!

READER REVIEW

Alana Co tells us why Triple Town deserves three thumbs up!

GAMEPLAY

Build your own mini city with this match three type puzzler. Your objective is to place item tiles beside each other in order to create structures. For example, grouping three trees together will build a hut, while three huts combined make a house. Warning: Bears will start invading your city and if you don't trap them correctly, they turn into useless tombstones that make a tile useless.

GRAPHICS

The game is set up like a blank grid where you can place materials like grass, bushes, trees, and buildings (that are all in the form of tiles). The structures and bears are so adorable!

REPLAY

After finishing a game, the app rewards you with coins that you can use to buy items and upgrades. There are also other playable modes like the Peaceful Mode with no bears, Bear Attack Mode with 50% more bears, and BoomTown, where you have to make a modern civilization within the span of two minutes.

SOUND

The game has minimal sounds. Most of the SFX comes from placing an item tile.

OVERALL

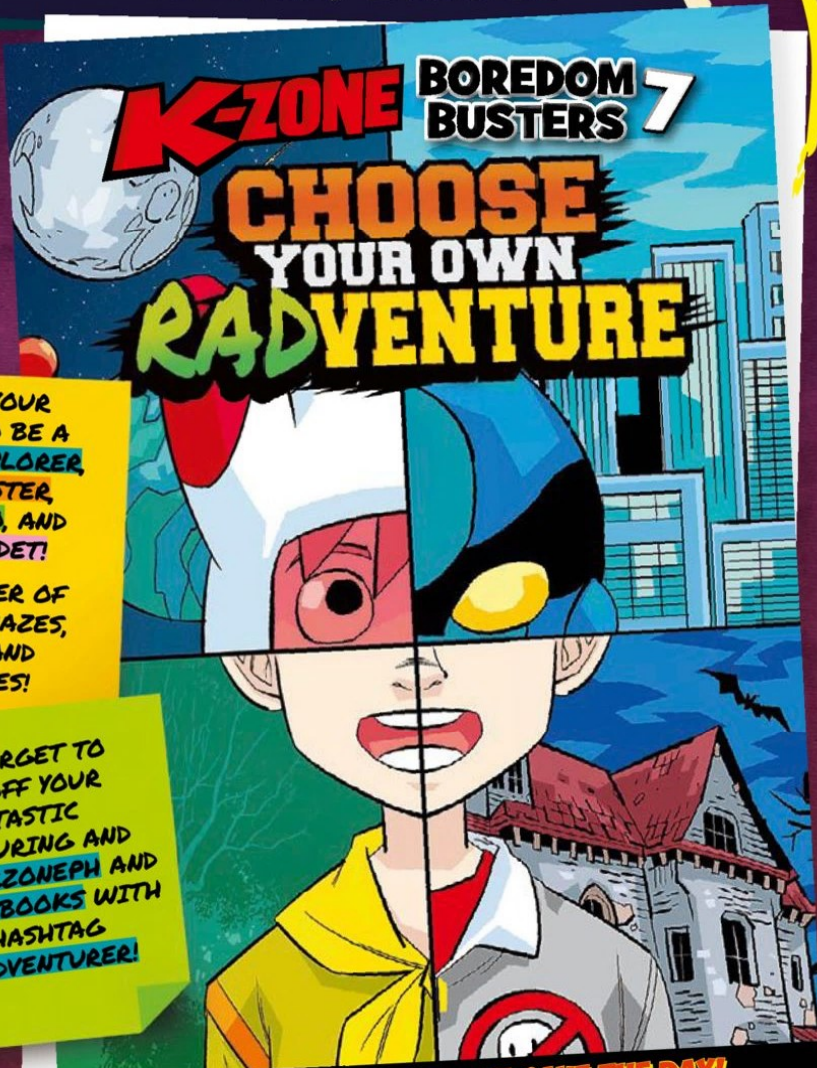

This game is way addictive! You'll spend sleepless hours building a virtual floating castle in order to top your previous score.

I was at Disneyland with my dad, and when it was closing time, I lost him in the crowd on the way out. Outside the amusement park, I spotted someone whom I thought was my dad, so I ran and hugged him. Turns out, it wasn't him! Whoops!

ARISTOTLE GUZMAN

During science class, I felt bored and sleepy because the teacher was giving a snore-fest lecture. I couldn't keep my eyes open and zoned out. All of a sudden, my seatmate was trying to wake me up while the whole class just looked on. It was embarrassing!

JILLIANE ESTRAVILLO

I had just woken up and was on my way downstairs to eat brekkie, when I missed a step and fell. My parents witnessed what happened and poked fun at me first before telling me to be more careful next time. I feel the love, Mom and Dad!

EJ SANTOS

I was biking around our village when I spotted two people arguing. It seemed so intense, so I just kept watching. Distracted, I lost my balance. It ain't fun getting thrown off a bike!

ISE BARCELON

My sister and I were horsing around in the mall. I tried to kick her but one of my flipflops slipped off and rolled toward two strangers. Needless to say, it was a very awkward sitch.

FRANCEZCA AIROSO

I didn't notice the wet floor after taking a bathroom break. When I entered the classroom, I slipped and fell down. My classmates, including my crush, bursted into laughter. I'll never forget that embarrassing day!
